MEMBERSHIP

ELIGIBILITY

The membership of the Society shall be open to persons who, except in the case of Special Honorary Members, are resident in the Republic of South Africa. There shall be the following classes of members –

(a) REGISTERED BREEDER

A natural person over the age of eighteen years, who is a South African citizen, company, close corporation, partnership, trust or body corporate which has a stud with recorded prefix registered through the Arab Horse Society of South Africa on behalf of the breeder by the Registering Authority on the Intergris and which person, over the age of 18 years, a South African company, close corporation, partnership, trust or body corporate duly incorporated and registered in South Africa who is the registered owner of a registered or recorded mare with the Arab Horse Society of South Africa, which mare is two years and older, and that mare has bred a foal that is registered / recorded under the prefix of the registered breeder. A registered Breeder will thus enjoy the right to vote at any general meetings, special meetings and or Provincial meetings. A Registered Breeder which is a company, close corporation, partnership, trust or body corporate shall be represented and shall enjoy the rights, duties and privileges of a Registered Breeder through one natural person over the age of 18 years appointed and nominated by the said company, close corporation, partnership, trust or body corporate as its official representative in terms of the Constitution.

(b) HONORARY LIFE MEMBERS

For special services in the interest of horses, a person may at an Annual General Meeting be elected as Honorary Life Member who shall enjoy all the rights and privileges of membership, including the right to vote at any meeting of the Society and the right to be elected to the Council, provided that no such person shall be eligible for Honorary Life Membership unless recommended by the Council.

(c) SPECIAL HONORARY MEMBERS

Persons not necessarily actively engaged in the breeding of horses may be elected Special Honorary Members by the Council upon such conditions as the Council may determine. Special Honorary Members may not vote at meetings of the Society and are not eligible for election to the Council.

(d) JUNIOR MEMBERS

Persons under the age of eighteen (18) years may become Junior Members by approval of the Council, subject to their parents or guardians counter-signing the application for membership and accepting full responsibility for the financial and other commitments towards the Society on behalf of such junior member. Junior members may not vote at meetings of the Society and are not eligible for election to the Council. Upon payment of the scheduled fees, they may partake in the other activities of the Society.

(e) STUDENT MEMBERS

Persons who are eighteen (18) years of age or older and registered for full-time study may become student members by approval of the Council. Student members will be accorded the same rights and privileges as junior members and shall automatically become Registered Breeders upon conclusion of such studies. Part-time students may also qualify for student membership.

(f) SPECIAL BREEDER

Any person who is 18 years old or older and is a Foreign National can become a Registered Breeder, but will not enjoy the rights and privileges of the Society and or be eligible to be elected into any position in the Arab Horse Society of South Africa.

1. The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This involves conducting market research to understand what customers want and what problems they are facing. Once a need is identified, the next step is to develop a concept that addresses this need. This is often done through brainstorming sessions with a team of designers and engineers.

2. The second step is to create a prototype. A prototype is a small-scale model of the product that is used to test the concept and gather feedback. This can be done using various materials and techniques, such as 3D printing or hand-drawn sketches. The prototype is then used to demonstrate the product's functionality and to identify any potential issues.

3. The third step is to conduct a feasibility study. This involves assessing the technical, financial, and market viability of the product. Technical feasibility is determined by whether the product can be manufactured using current technology. Financial feasibility is determined by whether the product can be produced at a cost that allows for a profit. Market feasibility is determined by whether there is a sufficient market for the product.

4. The fourth step is to develop a business plan. A business plan is a document that outlines the company's strategy for producing and marketing the product. It includes information about the company's goals, the market it is targeting, and the resources it needs to succeed. The business plan is used to attract investors and to guide the company's operations.

5. The fifth step is to manufacture the product. This involves setting up a production line and sourcing the materials and components needed to create the product. The manufacturing process is often a complex one that involves many different steps and a large number of people. Once the product is manufactured, it is then distributed to customers through a sales channel.

6. The sixth step is to market the product. This involves promoting the product to potential customers and encouraging them to purchase it. This can be done through a variety of methods, such as advertising, public relations, and direct sales. The marketing strategy is often tailored to the specific product and market.

7. The seventh step is to monitor the product's performance. This involves tracking sales, customer feedback, and other metrics to determine how well the product is performing in the market. This information is used to make adjustments to the product and the marketing strategy as needed.

8. The eighth step is to iterate on the product. This involves making improvements to the product based on customer feedback and market data. This can be done by adding new features, improving the design, or changing the manufacturing process. Iteration is a key part of the product development process, as it allows companies to refine their products and stay competitive in the market.

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.

PARTNERSHIPS / VENNOOTSKAPPE

In the event of a partnership one of these documents must be completed for EVERY partner in the partnership and these documents must accompany the application for membership / In geval van 'n vennootskap moet een van hierdie dokumente volledig voltooi word vir elke vennoot in die vennootskap en moet die dokumente die aansoek om lidmaatskap vergesel.
